IN INDOOR GARDENING —

So much can be accomplished in such small expenditure that it can be readily seen why everyone today is trying the various phases of gardening for the beautification of their home.

Ferns—The cutest little dwarf formation of plants imaginable.

Ferns—In all shapes and forms, some variegated, some plain green, but each one individually different. Unless you have tried these before, you won't realize what pleasure you have in store.

Planted in fancy bowls, they are a constant source of pleasure. Especially in the white pottery—they assume all the dignity of more aristocratic of the plant species, and are amazingly beautiful.

Planted in Glass Gardens—and one just imagines he is resting quietly at the edge of some woodland spot. You can plan and plant such a garden yourself. Be your own landscape architect and see the wonders of the work unfold beneath your hand.

The Indoor Garden is one of the chief expressions of simplicity used in the plant line. What scheme of design will such a garden not accentuate and beautify?

FERNS (FT SERIES OF PLANTS)

FT-1 Pteris Serrulata Cristata Variegata—Outstanding for its coloring, it is variegated green and white. 25c each

FT-2 Onychium Japonicum—Lacy type fern. 25c each

FT-3 Cryetonium Rockfordianum—Heavy leafed leaves. Also dark, shiny leaves. 25c each

FT-4 Pteris Serrulata Cristata Compacta—A very light green fern. 25c each

FT-5—Pteris Wilsonii—Low growing. 25c each

FT-6 Pteris Parkerii—Another of the ferns with the large fronds. 25c each

FT-7 Pteris Serrulata Cristata—Fine leafy fronds. 25c each

FT-8 Pteris Rivertoniana—Spreading habits. 25c each

FT-10 Selaginella Blue Green—An interesting plant. Its foliage is of a changeable blue to green. 50c each

FT-11 Selaginella (Moss Fern). A very popular variety. 25c each

FT-9 Selaginella

Brownii—One of those new plants that makes us like terrarium gardening so well, low about one inch high — with tiny divisions of its mossy foliage, it shows a beautiful shade of light green coloring.

25c each

Selaginella Brownie

DECORATIVE PLANTS (DT SERIES)

For something that is really a "different" kind of study, here are listed the "Decorative Plants." Herein are the beauties of the selection of plants. Some of these are really rare, and can be obtained only from our house. DT Series of Plants.

DT-1 Peperomia (Watermelon Leaf)—An interesting little plant with its attractive variegated leaves that resemble the covering of a watermelon. Recommended for the terrarium. 25c each

DT-2 Fittonia (White Veined)—These plants are excellent for terrarium use, with their variegated leaves. Splendid means to study the structure of the leaf, as the veins are distinctly marked. 35c each

DT-3 Fittonia (Pink Veined)—Same as above, but with pink. You'll like this one for variation. 35c each

DT-4 Irish Moss (Helxine)—You'll remember the little "baby tears." Well, this is it. In its attractive mossy way, this little plant has stolen the heart of many a biology class. 25c each

DT-5 Epicia (Brazilian Coleus)—One of the outstanding plants for the use in the decorative terrarium. Its leaves are variegated, red and green, covered with soft downy velvet. Has brilliant carmine flowers. You'll want to try one of these. 50c each

DT-6 Cryptanthus, Star—An entirely different plant. Its leaves are variegated, red and green; and its outspreading sword-leaves present a decidedly unusual appearance. 35c each

DT-7 Cryptanthus, Green—The same outspreading palms, but in a beautiful green. One of the most pleasing of the Decorative plants. 25c each

DT-8 Cryptanthus, Spider—So called because of the web-like lines running through the leaves; of a dark red color, with white variegations. A beauty for an unusual plant. 50c each

DT-9 Tradescantia Dracenaefolia—Related to the common "wandering Jew," but you should see this aristocratic cousin! Interesting to compare the two, in the classroom, when they are such near relatives. 35c each

DT-10 African Violet (Saintpaulias)—Blue Boy. Small plants usually in bud and bloom. 35c each

DT-11 Peperomia—Variegated. A rather new variety. Leaves marked green and white. 25c each

TERRARIUM GARDENING

Here is a group of (CT Series) the different type plants that are suitable for a "Cactus Terrarium." There are wonderful possibilities with these plants for arrangements, of naturalistic desert ideas.

CT-1 ALOE GASTERIA—A hybrid that combines the pleasing of both plants.

CT-2 ALOE NOBILIS—A green rosette, compact plant, dotted with harmless short spines.

CT-3 HAWORTHIA CYMBRIFORMIS—A low growing rosette of light green fleshy leaves with translucent streaks on the upper surface.

CT-4 HAWORTHIA COARCTATA—Dark green pointed leaves, forming a dense column shaped rosette.

CT-5 NYCTOCEREUS SERPENTINUS—Tall, slender, night flowering white flowers.

CT-6 OPUNTIA CRISTATA—It assumes queer and grotesque shapes.

CT-7 EUPHORBIA CAPUT MEDUSAE—Another odd plant.

CT-8 OPUNTIA RUFIDA—Round pads and reddish brown tufts of spines.

CT-9 OPUNTIA MICREDASYS—Common name, "Bunny Ears."

CT-10—CORAPHANTHA DESERTII—Low bushy cacti, Mexican variety, large rose colored flowers.

CT-11 CHAMAECEREUS SYLVESTRII—"Peanut Cactus." Branches out like a tree.

CT-12 CEREUS PERUVIANUS—Bluish green columnar cactus.

CT-13 NEO MAMMILLIS APPLANTA—Round and very low.

CT-14 ECHINOCEREUS REICHENBRACHII—Barrel cactus, free flowering.

CT-15 CORAPHANTHA VIVIPARA—Another low growing variety.

CT-16 SEMPERVIVUM CALCAREUM—Bluish gray Rosetta of pointed leaves tipped with reddish purple.

CT-17 STAPELIA VARIEGATA—Has flowers resembling a star.

REAL VALUES IN PLANTS

Syngoniums find their way into the collections wherever delicately variegated foliage is needed to lend a note of relief to foliage green.

M-1 SYNGONIUM PODOPHYLLUM—A very graceful and desirable plant. Each 25c.

M-2 SYNGONIUM RUTH FRASER—(Cinderella Plant) a newer and much more refined variegation. Each 35c.

M-3 NEPHTHYTIS LIBERICA—an excellent plant which will grow a pretty vine. Suitable to grow in water. Each 25c.

M-4 PHILODENDRON CORDATUM—the well known Vine that has proved a most excellent plant. Each 25c.

M-5 PHILODENDRON MICANS—A newer kind having a velvety surface to the leaves. Each 25c.

M-6 POTHOS AUREUS WILCOXI—This is by far the best Pothos in existence. The snowy foliage is bright green attractively mottled with light yellow. Each 25c.

IVIES for the home

Ivy as described above.
Back row: H-3, H-4, H-1, H-6; front row: H-5, H-7, H-2.

H-1—ENGLISH IVY—(Hedera Helix). The plant so many of us admire. It is the outstanding plant for indoor gardening. Lovely dark green leaves alternating on the stem, make it a winner for the twining purposes. Each 15c.

H-2 HEART LEAF IVY—(Hedera Colchica)—A newer variety, but just what its name suggests. An ivy that is heart shaped. In a collection of ivy, this makes a decided contrast. Each 25c.

H-3 SELF-BRANCHING IVY (Hedera Pittsburgh)—A new ivy that is adaptable for almost any container or garden. Instead of growing in one continuous vine, it branches, making several of the vines on one plant. Each 25c.

H-4 VARIEGATED IVY—(Hedera Helix Variegata) a beautiful blending of green and white; the white forms a border around the edges of the leaf, with huge blotches of green here and there on the leaf. Excellent for a decorative terrarium. Each 25c.

H-5 BUNCHLEAF IVY—(Hedera Conglomerata). A cute little compact ivy. One that is small, busy, and certainly new. Its leaves are very curly, giving the appearance of an entirely different plant. Each 35c.

H-6 LEOPARD IVY—(Hedera Colchica Variegata.) Another variegated ivy, but with marked distinction. The leaves are a deep green, with tiny pin points dots of white coloring covering the leaf. "The leopard and his spots." Each 20c.

H-7 GRAPE IVY—(Vitis Rhombifolia). An entirely different plant. Really does not belong to the ivy family, but resembles them so distinctly that it is usually included in the listing of the various ivies. Leaves bright green, resembling those of the grape vine. Each 25c.

TO YOU WHO WANT A COMPLETE COLLECTION OF IVY WE OFFER THE FOLLOWING VARIETIES:

HELIX ATROPURPUREA—Leaves bronzy-purple in winter.

HELIX ANGULARIS AUREA—A good golden variety.

HELIX CAENWOODIANA—Small, attractively cut leaves.

HELIX CONGLOMERATA ERECTA—A tall Conglomerata.

HELIX CONTRACTA—A good variety.

HELIX CORDATA—Attractive leaf.

HELIX COREACEA—Leatherleaf ivy. Rare. Hardy.

HELIX DIGITATA—Small, deeply lobed leaves.

HELIX DISCOLOR—Small daintily variegated leaves.

HELIX DONERAIENSIS—Similar to Caenwoodiana, but larger.

HELIX ELEGANTISSIMA—Beautiful variegated ivy.

HELIX EMERALD GEM—Very bright green.

HELIX HOWARDI—Edge mottled silver. Very pretty.

HELIX LOBATA MAJOR—A small leaf variegated ivy.

HELIX MACULATA—A small leaf variegated ivy.

HELIX MERION BEAUTY—Heavy branching small leaves.

HELIX MRS. POLLOCK—Small, deeply lobed golden leaves.

HELIX PALMATA—Five finger leaved ivy.

HELIX PELTATA—Miniature, dark green leaves.

HELIX RUSSELL'S GOLD—Small leaf entirely gold.

HIBERNICA—The Irish ivy. Large leaved.

HIBERNICA AUREA—The golden leaved Irish ivy.

Priced—Any of the above, 35c each Prepaid.

MORE MOISTURE LOVING PLANTS

M-7 POTHOS AUREUS—Sometimes called Variegated Philodendron, a rapid growing vine with heart shaped leaves, slightly mottled yellow. Each 20c.

All the plants mentioned here should be grown in quite deep shade, making them a desirable plant. They like plenty of water and good drainage is desirable, but not necessary. Other conditions being favorable they will grow nicely in water. Ordinary temperatures are suitable, but humidity and warmth are ideal for plants of this group. Any ordinary soil seems to agree with these plants.

For an attractive terrarium garden, any glass receptacle will do, if large enough to accommodate your plants. Soils can be ordered, with a collection of plants, thus adding greatly to your convenience.

Generally terraria do best in a light place, however, avoid hot sunshine. Humidity is controlled by the use of the glass covering, which can be removed if too much moisture is evident. Remove any leaves that are yellow, as this will result in decay, and rotting of plants in the garden. Prevent the formation of molds, by allowing to dry out a bit if they begin to appear; be sure to remove any that form at once.

Watch carefully for any evidence of sow bugs. These little fellows are the most destructive of the terrarium pests. A little sulphur will help to make the terrarium an unhealthy place for them. Try a half of a potato, and when these insects gather under it, remove them, and kill them.

SUGGESTIONS FOR SOIL MIXTURES

Bog Soil—Mixture of sand and sphagnum moss. 4:1 volume.

Desert Soil—Mixture of sand and garden soil. 2:1 volume.

Woodland Soil—Mixture of leaf mold and peat moss. 4:1 volume.

Decorative Soil—Mixture of leaf mold and peat moss. 3:1 volume.

The addition of a little fresh soil at intervals will prove beneficial for the plants. Watch water supply carefully.

JO SELECTS—

For years we have been devoting much time to growing and testing plants for Indoor Gardening in all its phases—Glass Gardens, Window Gardens, Dish Gardens, Bog Gardens.

Friends and customers visiting our gardens have expressed the wish for us to catalog these different and attractive plants, so that they might too enjoy the plants we have been here enjoying.

This circular on "Indoor Gardening" is the result of these requests. Only the best of the hundreds of plants we have tried out are listed. Many of them cannot be secured anywhere else.

ENJOY NATURAL BEAUTY with these AQUATIC PLANTS

All the beauty of Nature is herein listed. The aquarium is certainly the complete study of all the beautiful things of life. Here is the quiet passiveness that is so restful for the human mind after its seance of probing, experimenting, and labor. Here is life—in the miniature degree, to be sure—but in a wonderfully philosophical way. Just the coloring that is needed for the toning up of our own thoughts.

Too, the aquarium garden is one of the most attractive of additions to the living room, or the dining room. It is an outstandingly different type of furniture, and beautifully takes its place with any scheme of design.

SCAVENGERS AND FISHES FOR THE AQUARIUM

In maintaining an aquatic garden you should consider the scavengers. They are necessary to eat up excess food and clean up the algae off the plants. An aquarium garden of snails alone is very interesting.

For instance, observe the life history of the ramshorn snail, starting with the egg we see that the eggs are enclosed in transparent capsules. The process of development and evolution may be watched daily.

IF I WERE A DOCTOR,

or any other professional man, who, for hours, has to examine, interview, converse, advise, or suggest, I certainly would try to have the "Party of the Second Part" in such a frame of mind that when his time came to face me, it would be quite a pleasant experience for both of us. I believe that after hours of this contact, I, myself, would be in an irritable frame of mind, too. (I remember how I have felt sitting "on the other side" of the door, and waiting for an interview.) Magazines hold no interest, looking and studying the others in the room is taboo, and certainly has no soothing effect. Regardless of how artistically the room is arranged, it still is another "Waiting Room."

Anything pertaining to water, anything pertaining to plant life, in this waiting room, would help to convert it to a room in which there is something of interest to all. Hours can be spent in quietly beholding the beauties of Nature.
